PADI TecRec

Technical diving is SCUBA diving's 'extreme' sport, taking experienced and qualified divers far deeper than in mainstream recreational diving. Technical diving is marked by significantly more equipment and training requirements to manage the additional hazard this type of diving entails.
Tec diving isn't for everyone, but for those who hear its challenge call, the PADI TecRec courses are the answer

Technical SCUBA diving is defined as diving other than conventional commercial or research diving that takes divers beyond recreational SCUBA diving limits.
- Diving beyond 40 metres/130 feet
- Required stage decompression
- Accelerated decompression and or the use of variable gas ,mixtures
- Diving in an overhead environment beyond 40 linear metres from the surface
